BOROUGH DEFENDS LICENSE ACTION

Answer Filed by Solicitor McCloskey to Railways Co. Pole Petition

DANGER IS COMPLAINED OF

Emphatic denial of important averments of the Pittsburg Railways company in their suit against the Borough of Charleroi to settle a controversy over pole license, is made in the answer of the borough filed by Solicitor D. M. McCloskey today at Washington. Not only is denial of important parts of the Railway's company statement made, but the charge is made that there is actual danger from poorly laid tracks which are connected by wires with poles. Following is the greater part of the answer prepared by Solicitor McCloskey:

"The borough denies so much of the sixth section of said petition as sets forth the manner in which the poles of the petitioner are constructed and maintained. It emphatically denies that no supervision or inspection of said poles (and wires) is necessary or that ferquent inspections are not made by the officers and agents of the borough. It further avers that the poles, wires and tracks of the petitioner are maintained on the principle street of said borough and in such manner that consistant supervision and inspection on the part of said borough is necessary. The said tracks of the petitioner are so poorly laid and of such improper material that they in connection with the poles and wires of the petitioner are a constant source of danger, affording and producing frequent cases of electrolysis and other electrical dangers and injurious conditions. Said poles support wires which are in close proximity to many other telephone, telegraph and other electric wires of high and low voltage. At different points said petitioner maintains overhead construction of a complicated and dangerous kind."

The borough maintains, "that so many different and immaterial facts and conclusions are set forth in the seventh section of the petition that the borough cannot intelligently admit or deny all of them. The borough however, avers that it at all times maintains an inspection of the several poles and wires in its limits and that all of its several policemen, its chief of police, street commissioner and borough engineer spend a portion of their time making said inspections and that all of said officers and employes are fully competent to make such inspection. The borough does not know what license fees have been adjusted in other boroughs, except in the borough of Monessen, Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, where a license fee of fifty cents have been declared to be reasonable. The borough of Monessen is almost directly across the river from the borough of Charleroi and the circumstances affecting the validity of its ordinance are almost identical to the circumstances properly affecting the validity of the ordinance of this borough."

Again the borough claims, "that certain streets of the borough of Charleroi are low and are subject to overflow from the river, that other streets are crowded with wires of telephone, street car, telegraph and electric light companies, and that still other streets are on slopes of hills particularly subject to slips and land slides and that these facts and circumstances not only warrant frequent inspections, but impress upon the borough a constant and very great risk of suits and damages."

In the concluding paragraph of the answer the borough sets forth that it has been collecting a tax of fifty cents provided by its ordinance from other public service corporations for the years 1910 to 1915 and it would be inequitable and unlawful for the court to fix an annual license fee by a retroactive decree for any of said years.

BASEBALL MEN TO FORM LEAGUE

Meeting With Definite Object in View Will be Held Saturday in Charleroi

FOUR TOWNS ARE INTERESTED

A Monongahela valley baseball league the formation of which has been talked of for some time may be definitely organized Saturday night at a meeting which will be held in the Hotel Wilbur, Charleroi. At that time officials of clubs of the Pittsburg Steel Products company, representing Charleroi, Pittsburg Steel, representing Monessen with officers of Monongahela and Donora teams will be present.

The purpose of the meeting will be to device ways and means for a four team league. It is barely possible that two other teams may be taken into the circuit, though this is not anticipated. The meeting will be called at 8:30 o'clock and among other business to be taken up will be that of the election of officers.

COUNCIL BUSY ON BUILDING PLANS

Contract Will be Awarded First of March if Details Can be Prepared

DETAILS ARE DECIDED UPON

By the first of March if details can be arranged the contract will be awarded for the construction of the proposed new municipal building. Council at a meeting Wednesday night took up some of the details relative to the building.

The plans have been completely outlined until the arrangement is about as council desires it. From now until the time of the letting of the contract council and the architect, J. G. Brenton, will be busy on the work of choosing materials and drawing up the specifications.

Nothing else but the building plans were taken up by council Wednesday night. President D. R. Duvall was in the chair and Councilmen W. H. Calvert, S. A. Michener, J. K. Mitchell, H. L. Swickey and C. S VanVoorhis were present

Attended by a large number of friends, the funeral of Clarence Miller Allen, one of the first residents of Charleroi, was held with services at the late home Wednesday afternoon. Rev. John R. Burson, present pastor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church and Rev. W. F. Silveus, former pastor. Both spoke. Rev. Silveus who has known Mr. Allen from early life reviewed the history of his career. Mr. Allen was a member of the first school board of Charleroi, and his name is on the tablet of the Fifth street school. The first school session was held in the back room of his store on McKean avenue and Second street. Prof. J. A. Snodgrass was in charge of the sessions. The first religious service also was held there and it was at this point where the Cumberland Presbyterian church was organized.

Music for the service was furnished by a quartet from the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, consisting of Mrs. R. C. Robertson, Miss Marguerite Whitlatch, Rev. Burson and L. E. Jobes. Floral tributes were profuse.

Interment was in the Monongahela cemetery. Pallbearers were Dr. Edwin McKay, George Stacy, T. R. Eagye, Thomas Owens, Sr., Jacob Hormell and Evan Kelly.

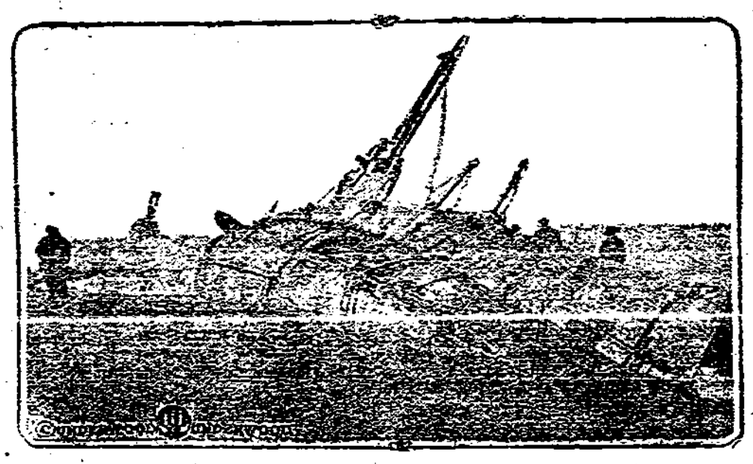
Ill Fate Pursues American Navy

Rescuing Cruiser Follows Submarine Ashore



This remarkable photograph shows the utter helplessness of the U. S. Submarine H-3, grounded on a sand bar near Eureka, Cal. In the distance is the cruiser "Milwaukee," which also ran aground in an attempt to pull the H-3 off. The last few years of peace have taken heavy toll of the American navy. Many bellige rant nations have fared proportionately better.

CONSTRUCTION STARTS ON NEW SINGLE LINE

Pennsylvania to Construct Tracks Between Brownsville and Linn Station —Contractor Hite With Gang of Men Building Shanties.

Contractor W. L. Hite, of the National Construction company of Pittsburgh, arrived in Brownsville Wednesday morning with a gang of 30 laborers who began work in the afternoon of erecting shanties at Brownsville Junction, where they are to be stationed until the large contract the construction company has with the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston railroad is completed.

This company recently was let a contract for making a fill of 25,000 yards of slag between Brownsville Junction and Linn station for the purpose of constructing another single line for the railroad company.

The laborers are to be housed in two large shanties at the junction, the work is expected to be completed by late in the summer. The right of way of the company lies along Redstone creek, where the slag will be dumped and the new road constructed.

Mr. Hite will have more laborers brought into the junction to assist in the work. He was also looking for men in the Brownsvilles.

The P. V. & C. is compelled to construct the new road in order to relieve the congestion of freight trains running over the branch. Each crew running between Uniontown and Brownsville will save more than one hour on a run when the new road is completed.

NEW COUNTERFEIT $5 BILL IS NOW IN CIRCULATION

Discovery of a new counterfeit $5 note on the New York Federal Reserve bank was announced today by the treasury department. The bogus bill is said to be "fairly deceptive" but can be distinguished best by the too heavy printing and the fact that fine lines cannot be traced.

It bears a portrait of Lincoln, reproductions of signature of W. G. McAdoo and John Burke and carries the check letter B.

BURGETTSTOWN TO VOTE ON $30,000 BOND ISSUE

New School Sufficient to Meet Needs Of Washington County Borough Proposed—Believed Issue Will Carry

The school board of the Burgettstowns district has issued a call for an election to be held February 24 to answer the question, Shall the bonded indebtedness of the borough be increased to the amount of $30,000 in order to provide school buildings sufficient to house the school population?

The school enrollment at present is 489. The main building contains but eight rooms. The children of the grade are crowded into a temporary frame shack in the rear of the school yard. Three others are housed in small rooms in an old residence property in no way adapted to school purposes, and dangerous in many ways. No one denies the need of more room and better equipment, but at two previous elections the bond issue has been defeated.

However, it is believed that owing to the rapid increase of the population and the revelation of the seriousness of the present condition, the issue will carry this time with a good majority.

WORKMAN KILLED BY FALLING KEG

John Roberts of Charleroi Succumbs to Injuries in Monongahela Hospital

PART OF FACE TORN AWAY

Injuries caused by a keg of heavy material falling on him, tearing away a part of his face, resulted in the death of John Roberts, aged 42 years of Charleroi at the Memorial hospital, Monongahela, Wednesday. The accident occurred at Donora the forepart of the week.

Roberts was engaged in the work of drawing the keg of material to the roof by means of a rope and pully when the keg fell. It struck him on the forehead just above the nose and tore away the lower part of his face. He was rushed to the hospital.

Coroner Heffran was notified of the accident and will investigate. The funeral of the man was held this afternoon with interment in the Charleroi cemetery.

WIRELESS OPERATORS INSTALL NEW OUTFITS

D. M. McCloskey, Esq., and Carl H. Rauschenberg Have Stations Equipped for Receiving and Sending—Cutting Working of Large Set

Installation of a complete kilowat wireless sending and receiving station has been completed in the law office of D. M. McCloskey, Esq., and it has been successfully used in communicating with stations at Greensburg and Connellsville. As yet the station has not been operated at full power as the necessary government license permitting operators from sending beyond the borders of the state has not been obtained. Upon the power being applied distances as far as New York city will be covered.

The purchase and installation of the apparatus was left to Carl Rauschenberg, operator at the Coyle theatre. The aerial was erected substantially on the roof of the First National bank building and the apparatus mounted efficiently in Mr. McCloskey's radio room. Rauschenberg, who installed a receiving set of his own prior to election, is now installing a 3-4 kilowat sending set in his station and will have a range nearly as great as that of Mr. McCloskey. He is also working on the construction of a large receiving set with which he expects to hear the largest station at Berlin, Germany, which sends war news to this country daily. All apparatus used for receiving from this station must be of the finest construction and supersensitive. Success can only be obtained by an expert operator of the wireless apparatus.

Both Mr. McCloskey and Mr. Rauschenberg are operators of wireless, having taken it up within the last year. Mr. McCloskey spent a month on a naval training vessel during which time he operated a wireless outfit.

DOES IT PAY?

West Middletown has discovered what it costs to be a borough and so concerned are the people over the matter that they are considering dropping their borough habiliments and appearing henceforth merely as part of a township.

The thing that has led West Middletown to the solmen contemplation of the borough probiem, is thee xpense that would accrue with the projected construction of a brick road through the borough problem, is the expense ough would be heavily taxed, for the road is a long one and West Middletown is a borough of only 300 inhabitants, men, women and children.

West Middletown's muddle is many another small town's muddle. Just how the problem of improving streets of a town with one long street can be taken care of is indeed a puzzle.

Of course West Middletown cares for individuality it would be a queer sort of a town if it didn't. But it is a question whether expensive individuality is worth while.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

TWO KINDS OF SUFFRAGISTS

Speaking of the picketing of the White House grounds at Washington by women suffragists the treasurer of the local Equal Franchise Federation draws a distinction between the conservative and the radical advocates of the cause that should be generally understood. According to this explanation, the employers of the militant methods that have been directed against President Wilson and members of Congress ever since the beginning of the present administration belong to the Congressional Union, which is headed by a former associate of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the leader of the English suffragets. This organization is held responsible for such activities as the "trailing" of President Wilson on the occasion of a visit to New York, interruptions during his public addresses, the recent demonstration in the House of Representatives when he appeared before Congress and finally this stationing of silent sentinels, bearing banners with impertinent questions, about the White House grounds. The general public is asked to be discriminating in its criticism and not to condemn the great body of American woman suffragists because of the follies of a few.

This is a reasonable request. In England Mrs. Pankhurst and her Amazons have attracted a degree of attention entirely out of proportion to their importance. The really valuable, constructive work in behalf of woman suffrage has not been achieved by those who have confined their efforts to punching policemen and smashing windows. The militants have received the advertising because of their sensationalism, and along with the publicity has been accorded a tribute of credit for achievements to which they are not entitled. So it is easy to understand the danger of a repetition of conditions in this county. Keep in mind that the women who are really pushing forward the cause of suffrage are not engaged in picturesque posing, these days on the White House lawn. The posers are merely the eccentric exceptions to the rule of common sense that is guiding the woman suffrage movement in this country.—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

FOR CHEAPER LIVING COSTS

In these days of the high cost of living and the clamor connected with it, the fact that so little attention has been paid to a sensible proposition in the way of solution is remarkable. Representative Fitzgerald has introduced a bill in Congress which provides what is hailed as a real plan to reduce the high cost of living.

He would make it possible for the farmer or producer to prepare his foodstuffs in packages weighing up to 150 pounds and put them in the postoffice for quick delivery to the consumer.

Just as soon as this is brought about, it is declared the law of competitive supply will begin to work. The farmer will get more for his produce, the consumer will pay less to the producer and will also be required to pay less to the dealers now engaged in business. They will find a way to reduce prices by cutting out the middlemen and such unnecessary expenses and profits.

It is very simple solution, one that can be tried without providing new machinery and its success or failure can be quickly demonstrated.—Uniontown Herald.

GINGLES' JINGLES

NOBODY HOME.

There's many a guy keeps a talking, his fib's on the job night and day, you stick and put up with his clatter, but gladly would beat it away, he doesn't appeal to your senses, your interest he doesn't arouse, you long for a club you would silence the dub, as you answer the geezer with nodions and bows. Keep a yawning and answer with bows. He talks of the things he's accomplished, he talks of himself and that's all, you try to get him off the subject, for no other line will he fall; through courtesy you're a stand-patter, you're sadly consoled to your fate, your mind flits away, it refuses to stay, simply hands your tormentor the gate. That helps, now the noise doesn't bother, you're deaf to the clang of his jaw, but when the guy asks you a question, 'tis then he gets wise to the flaw, your mind has been off on a journey, meandering hither and yon, and all he has said, went right over your head, your answer though puts the guy on, he is wise, he knows for a time you've been gone.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

According to a London paper, the Lady's Magazine for 1789 contained the following comprehensive advertisement:

"Wanted, for a sober family, a man of light weight weight who fears the Lord and drive a pair of horses. He must occasionally wait at table, join in household prayer, look after horses and read a chapter in the Bible He must rise at seven in the morning obey his master and mistress in all lawful commands and if he can dress hair, sing psalms and play at cribbage, so much the better. Wages, 15 guineas a year."—Youth's Companion.

Two proprietors of two rival livery stables, situated alongside each other in a busy street, have been having a lively advertising duel lately.

The other week one of them stuck up in his office window a long strip of paper, bearing the words:

"Our horses need no whip to make them go."

This bit of sarcasm naturally caused some amusement at the expense of the rival proprietor, but in less than an hour he nearly turned the tables by pasting the following retort on his own window:

"True. The wind blows them along!"—Tit-Bits.

"OUT OF AN HORRIBLE PIT"

THEME OF REV. COLE'S SERMON

"Out of an Horrible Pit" was the subject of Rev. E. A. Cole's sermon at the First Christian church Wednesday evening. Two pictures were presented. One was that of the darkness of sin. Rev. Cole spoke of the jug shaped dungeon into which Jeremiah was cast, his body immersed in filth and slime, with no way out but from above. He spoke then of the brighteness and hope for the Lord to lift men out of the mire of sin. There were two conversions. The musical part of the service was inspiring. Miss Thelma Duvall sang a solo. The junior choir contributed a selection.

Baptism will be held Friday evening. On this evening the members of the Star class will attend in a body. A cottage prayer meeting will be held at the home of Minton Shipe on Shady avenue Friday at 2. Shop meetings for next week are being arranged.

PROBLEMS OF DISCIPLINE TAKEN UP BY CHILD WELFARE CIRCLE

The Child Welfare circle met at the home of Mrs. J. D. Berryman on Lincoln avenue Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Edwin W. McKay read a paper on "Problems of Discipline" and Mrs. C. E. Pierce read a magazine article on the same subject. A delightful part of the program was mandolin selections by Misses Margaret and Mary Berryman and piano solos by Miss Leila Orange. It was decided to hold a bazaar in the near future. One new member, Mrs. G. S. McFeeters was admitted to the circle. A large attendance was present The next meeting will be held February 28 at the home of Mrs. Anna Patton on Washington avenue.

"CONFESSION" SERMON THEME

AT METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

At the Methodist Episcopal evangelistic service Wednesday evening Rev. C. A. Hartung preached on the subject of "Confession." The meeting was one of the best of the series. The sermon was inspiring. Preceding the regular service, Claude E. Towner of Monongahela spoke to a good sized audience in the basement of the church on the subject, "Christian Stewardship." The regular service was followed by a consecration meeting of exceptional interest. Tonight Pastor Hartung will speak on the text, "How can a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to the word."

Wilson's Terms Summarized in Briefer Form

Shall the United States abandon its traditional policy of keeping "hands-off" European quarrels while protecting the interests of both Americas? By entering European politics, do we open the door for European interference in the affairs of this hemisphere? President Wilson's speech before the Senate raises these questions in the minds of every American. Here are the terms of peace he sets forth.

The peace must provide not only for a balance of power, but a community of power, an organized common peace.

It must be a peace without victory, leaving no sting or resentment, a peace between equals.

It must make no distinction between the rights of big nations and of small ones.

It must accept the principle that governments derive all their just powers from the consent of the governed.

There should be a united, independent and autonomous Poland.

Inviolable security of life, of worship and of industrial and social development should be guaranteed to all peoples who have lived hitherto under the power of governments devoted to a faith and purpose hostile to their own.

Every great people should be assured a direct outlet to the sea, if not by cession of territory, then by neutralization of right of way.

The paths of the sea must, alike in law and in fact, be free, giving free, constant, unthreatened intercourse in practically all circumstances.

There must be a limitation of both land and naval armaments, to make them a power for order only.

The nations should adopt the doctrine of President Monroe as the doctrne of the world; that no nation should seek to extend its policy over any other nation or people.

INJUNCTION SUITS COME UP FOR HEARING TODAY IN THE COUNTY COURTS

Today at 10 o'clock was set as the time for a hearing in the injunction suits instituted last Monday week by District Attorney Isaac W. Baum against the Independent Brewing Co., of Pittsburg, Pittsburg Brewing Co., of Pittsburg; Victor Brewing Co., of Jeannette, Monongahela Valley Brewing Co., of Clairton; Steuben Brewing Co., of Steubenville, O.,and others, wholesalers, both as brewers and liquor dealers and agents to perpetually enjoin them from doing business in this county in the manner in which it is alleged they are doing business.

The progress and outcome of these suits will be watched with great interest. The prosecuting attorney is determined to stop this alleged illegal traffic in liquor by means of agents in the many industrial sections of the county. He has the backing of coal companies and corporations, whose business is being interfered with as a result of the unlimited distribution of booze among their employes.

WASHINGTON PAPER SEES POINT IN COUNTY SCHOOL ATHLETICS TO FE SETTLED

A point developed in the game Saturday night that should be brought to the attention of the grave body so anxious for clean sport that it wanted to rule Fred Baumberger off the Washington High school team. Principal McVay of Canonsburg was one of the most insistant in his demands for proof of Fred's status. After the age question had been settled, Coach Crane, of Monongahela raised the point that the fifteen hours being taken by Baumberger should be in some other branches. Then Grimm of Charleroi, said Stewett had told him at the field meet last year that Fred would be 21 his next birthday, which was correct but he thought that was in July. Those points settled along came brother McVay with an insistant demand for proof that Fred Baumberger had not started his athletic career more than four years ago. This point was not included in the original protest and therefore had not been investigated although all those in the meeting knew it was a foolish complaint. It is a pretty state of affairs for these teams to come into court with such a case as this when their hands are not clean. Canonsburg has a hangover from a petty scrap with Claysville that is so strong Charley Nuss is barred from refereeing their games and Monongahela and Charleroi accuse each other of being so rotten that they will not play each other.—Washington Daily News.

HENDERSON BILLED FOR FINAL BOUT SATURDAY; HARD WORKING PUGILIST

No more earnest nor ambitious ringster ever made his debut in Western Pennsylvania than Marty Henderson, who is billed to fight Toughey Murray in 10 rounds here Saturday night. It is safe to say that Marty asleep or awake, has his ring advancement foremost in his mind at all times and the rapid progress he has made shows the advantage of his strict application to business. Most young fighters are inclined to put on a lot of side and travel with their crowd of satellites and admirers, but Marty is of another kind. He goes quietly about his work at all times and his never-ending striving for perfection in his ring work saves him from the temptations that beset the path of the ringster.

Marty has been boxing only about a year, but in that time has gone far on the road to mastery of the science and art of the ring. He has the build, speed, stamina and craft, and best of all, he has the fighter's heart. Scarcely ever has he been shaded in a bout.

NEWELL MAN ACCUSES GIRL OF COMPANY PAYROLL THEFT

Lillian Banks, aged 22, of 214 East Lacock street, Pittsburg, arrested on a charge of administering drugs to James Downey of Newell in a downtown hotel January 13 and robbing him of $250, the pay of the Iron City Sand company's employes at Newell, received a hearing Wednesday at Pittsburg before Magistrate John J. Sweeney. She was fined $100. Later Downey preferred a charge of larceny and the girl was committed to jail.

RAILROAD WILL DETERMINE PENSIONS BY NEW METHOD

A change in the method of determining the amount of pensions to be paid to retired employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and its directly operated lines East of Pittsburg and Erie, has been authorized by the Directors and will become effective with the payments to be made for the month of January, 1917. It will result in increased allowances in a number of instances. A minimum of $[illegible] per month will also be established.

The purpose of the change is to protect employes who are unable, by reason of sickness or infirmity, to earn full time during the closing years of their service.

Pension allowances are now paid monthly by the Railroad on the basis of one per cent of the average regular monthly pay, during the ten years preceding retirement, for each of service with the Company.

High school's strength lately shown has brought the team up to old time form, so that a high-class attraction Saturday is assurred.

INFORMATION BUREAUS OPENED BY THE STATE

State Insurance Commissioner J. Denny O'Neil has opened three bureaus of information and adjustment, where the public can get information regarding the financial standing of insurance companies and secure help in adjusting insurance troubles of any kind.

Commisisoner O'Neil said: "Some people may think this is socialistic, but I think it is the duty of this state to render the largest possible service to the people.

"Insurance is a mystery to the average citizen but it is a subject of interest to every man, woman and child.

"The insurance business in Pennsylvania has assumed startling proportions. The total number of life insurance policies in Pennsylvania in 1915 was 5,780,175, and the total amount of life insurance in force in the state was $2,197,357,870.56.

"The total amount of fire insurance in force was $2,292,203,732.48, making a grand total of almost four and one-half billions of dollars carried by the people of Pennsylvania alone, an amount too large for the ordinary person to grasp."

The three adjustment bureaus are located as follows: Capitol building, Harrisburg; Commercial Trust building, Philadelphia; Hartje building, Pittsburg.

"Any policy holder, citizen,insurance agent or company, can secure advice, information, or help from experts of the insurance department free. All that will be necessary is to state the case plainly and write to Bureau of Information, State Insurance Department, at the nearest bureau.

During the last six months many reform and new ideas have been adopted by the insurance department and the insurance business of the state is now conducted on as high a plane as banking or any other of the great industries.

"It may be of interest to the public," says Mr. O'Neil, "to know that the cost of conducting the insurance department for a year is less than $80,000, while it is one of the best revenue producers, turning into the state treasury over $2,000,000.00 a year in cash, to help defray the expense of the state government.

"The great majority of insurance companies doing business in Pennsylvania are financially strong and conduct their business in a fair and honest manner and if the law was amended to bring fraternals under control of the insurance department, and the department gives the proper supervision to the companies, there will be no more Pension Mutual affairs, which has recently been disclosed."

STAGECOACH DAYS

Travel Often Spelled Misery Before We Had Railways.

TALE OF A WINTER JOURNEY.

Discomforts and Hardships That Had to Be Endured by the Passengers in an Old Style Trip Across the Allegheny Mountains in 1846.

How traveling is metamorphosed these days, to be sure! Yet some men "fond of handling the ribbons" and some women who "want to see the scenery at their leisure" still regret "the spanking bays and rocking stagecoach of the past."

Here is the way the Allegheny mountains were crossed in 1846:

"It was midwinter when we arrived at Wheeling, and as the stagecoach was to start at 5 o'clock in the morning no one thought of going to bed, so we took our way through the frozen streets to secure through tickets to Philadelphia. It was pitch dark and bitter cold—the damp, penetrating weather that reaches the very marrow of our bones.

"The little den, called by courtesy the office, was filled with passengers as damp, cold and ill natured as ourselves. There was a handful of coal burning in a small grate, and around it were grouped the round shouldered, unsympathetic people who were to be our fellow passengers. They glanced at us and closed up all the open space near the fire, as if to say: 'You don't get in here, we can tell you. You have no right to travel in our coach, any way!'

"At one side stood a table, and on it was a coffee pot and cups, some sausages frozen stiff and an unattractive loaf of bread, over which presided a tall darky, who leaned against the wall fast asleep. We were told that we could get a good breakfast twenty miles away from Wheeling.

"At the appointed time the heavy old coach came up, and we all clambered in and stowed ourselves away pell mell. A short way from town there was a long hill, up which the horses toiled, so this gave us all time to settle down for a quiet nap. One snore after another announced their success; in a few minutes six out of the nine passengers were oblivious of their misery.

"Not being sleepy, I studied the snorers. A large fat man opposite me had a short, angry snore. He snored so loudly that he woke himself up and glared about him impudently, as though he hoped they wouldn't make that noise again!

"The old lady who was crushing me up in the corner snored deeply and contentedly.

"Some one off in a dark corner had a genial way of joining in as though he snored merely to oblige the passengers; but the grand musician of the company sat opposite me. I never heard anything approaching him either for quality or compass. It was a back action snore that began in a bold agitato movement, suddenly brought up with a jerk and ended with a whistle.

"The whole band was in full play when we stopped with a tremendous jerk, and everybody woke up with oaths or 'Pshaws!' over a bad jolt. The summit gained, there was a sharp crack of the whip, the horses started, and everybody was jerked violently backward. Soon the chorus began again, however, and I joined in till the coach came to a full stop at the table where the horses were to be changed.

"Stiff and sleepy and cramped from sitting so long in one position, the sun now rose and came in at all sorts of places, waking and blinding everybody. What a discontented lot we were! And we all hated each other!

"At last, breakfast—ah, hot coffee, ham and eggs and buckwheat cakes! The meal was not half over before we were a band of brothers. We could not do enough for each other. All was harmony and peace."

Nor was that all, for they drove into a severe mountain storm and intense cold, darkness; the horses fell on the icy roads; the stage rocked wildly in the wind and nearly blew over. Twenty-four hours of this, a driver frozen stiff and assisted down from the box. We do it now in six hours in a comfortable bed, in a warm, well lighted car. Some "modern imps" are mighty good angels.

Our chief loss has been the great cheerful, roaring open fires that people had in those days. The domestic virtues began to decay when people were reduced to sitting around a hole in the wall or a gloomy metal register, without armchairs, stories, songs, grandparents and little children roasting apples or popping corn—friends and strangers dropping in and getting a warm welcome, a place in the circle and what Spaniards call "the love of the fire."—Baltimore News.

Quite a Change.

Twenty-five years ago a young husband's wife went away for a two days' visit. When she returned he met her at the depot and embraced her and kissed her. The other day she returned from a two weeks' visit. He met her and said, while he took a chew of tobacco, "Well, did you have a good time?"—Kansas City Star.

Never let your mirth, jubilation or pleasures dull your sympathy for the sorrow, suffering, sickness or indigence of other people.

FREAK TREES.

Heavy Snowstorms Often Cause Bent and Twisted Trunks.

To the person who is not versed in forest lore the grotesquely bent tree trunks that are to be found in almost all woods are mystifying, and wonder is often aroused as to the cause.

Foresters will tell questioners that in the case of trees in mountainous country and other sections where the snowfall is heavy the weight of snow is responsible in most instances for the queer twists they assume.

When a tree is young the weight of snow that falls on its branches often bends the trunk over until it is flattened to the ground. Sometimes it is buried under six or eight feet of snow and held in that position so long that when warm weather comes the tree fails to spring back into its normal position.

The summer sun causes the tip of the young tree to turn upward, and if it manages to withstand the weight of the snow of the next winter that portion of the tree will, as a general rule, continue to grow in a normal way. "Hairpin" bends and other odd shapes result.

A curious tree stands on the top of Tunnel hill, Johnstown, Pa., about four miles from town. It is a sugar maple about 100 years old, which has prolonged its own life by grafting a branch into a much younger tree.—Popular Science Monthly.

VAMPIRE BATS OF PERU.

These Bloodsucking Animals Have Bulldog Heads.

On the morning after our arrival at San Miguel bridge (Peru) the pack mules nearly all showed blood blotches on their withers and backs, where they had been attacked during the night by vampire bats which had fed on their blood. This bat, Desmodus rotundus, is plentifully distributed throughout Peru in altitudes below 10,000 feet.

It is one of the most highly specialized species of existing bats. The lower jaw is decidedly undershot, and the head, with its short cropped ears and broad muzzle, has a strikingly bulldog appearance. The legs are well developed and rather heavy, enabling the animal to move fairly rapidly on the ground, in which situation it is by no means the shuffling, helpless creature like many other bats. If molested when thrown to the ground it will turn and bite savagely.

The teeth are a highly modified cutting apparatus for making incisions in the skins of mammals and birds.

In habits they are sociable and are commonly found living in caves or tunnels, suspended from the ceiling in clusters often of immense size.—National Geographic Magazine.

The Food of the Cod.

The cod has the reputation of being as omnivorous as the goat, whose appetite for posters and old tin cans is the subject of frequent jests. The varied nature of what the cod swallows is not more remarkable than the enormous quantity. According to a writer in the Scotsman, such articles as silver brooches, clasp knives, books and rubber balls have been found in its stomach. One fisherman of Aberdeen has a stone that weighs more than a pound, taken from a cod that had swallowed it for the sea anemones with which it was covered. The same fisherman has also found specimens of almost all the stalk eyed crustaceans that frequent the northern coast of Scotland and of every kind of fish that a cod can master, including its own young. Cod have been known to swallow partridges, guillemots and hares.

Alder Dye.

For the purpose of making dyes the common alder appears to have been unnoticed by the pioneers of this country, who made use of so many barks and roots. However, it was well known to the Indians, who used it to good effect. It dyes a reddish color, and down to a few years ago was employed by natives of the northwest Pacific coast in coloring their fish nets. Alder dye, used for the same purpose, is said to be the oldest recorded dye in the world. It is mentioned in the Kalevala of Finland, supposed to date nearly 3,000 years ago.

"Here I have to go and be bored to death at that horrid Mrs. Jiggers' just on account of my husband's perversity."

"Did he tell you you should go?"

"No; he told me I shouldn't."—Baltimore American.

Universal Language.

Blobbs—Do you think we shall ever have a universal language? Slobbs—We have now, when money talks.—Philadelphia Record.
